

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Remarks That First City Troop Is Getting Ready for Camp—Sees a Pretty Costume. Discusses Various People and Places

DID you know that the First City Troop is going off to Mt. Gretna on Sunday for the regular two weeks encampment? Seems like old times, doesn't it? This is the first encampment the troop has had since the war, because last summer things were still a bit mixed up—and I doubt whether anybody would have relished it very much so soon after the real thing. They are taking 300 horses with them, I believe, so there will be some nice maneuvers up there.

I have seen lots of men in town lately wearing the yellow and white hat-band with its brown edges that indicates a trooper and "shows him up" anywhere. It's a very distinctive hat-band, and even if you don't know what it stood for, you would somehow feel sure that it was something rather nice.

I SAW Mrs. Gibson Bell on Chestnut street the other day, looking extremely well. She had on a decidedly stylish frock of dark-blue chiffon, with a hat to match. The hat was a large affair of straw which was most becoming.

THERE was quite a large time in Newport last night, "Stop Thief!" was given in the army in the training station for the first time. A number of people had boxes and entertained parties. Mrs. William Falmestock and Mrs. Clarence Dolan were among them. Miss Julia Berwind also entertained.

Everybody up there is getting very much interested in the tennis tournament. That's a big affair every year, but this year it will be bigger than ever, because they think now that Junior Tilden and the other Davis cup contestants will be there. And there's nothing like a national hero to create interest. The tournament will be held on the eighth of August, at the Casino, of course, and people are beginning now to think about reserving their boxes—and designing their costumes—for the most important part of Newport tennis is the pretty clothes in the grandstand.

WHAT a beautiful start the Glendinning and Ellen and Mary. It must be so discouraging to start off on "voyage" in the weather. Percy Glendinning, their cousin, by the way, was down at Bay Head last week—that is on Saturday, at least, and he had Virginia Roberts, to whom he is engaged, with him at the costume dance that was given there on Saturday night. As far as that goes, a number of people are down there in the costume dance, and yet it wasn't so very long ago, Fritz Freeman and Carrol Thibault are more of Philadelphia transplanted there for the season, and also Miss Bush Hart and her husband, also there. Oh, you're sure to find some of us no matter where you go New England way or Jersey coasting.

HE WAS only about four, and he didn't understand a great many things in the first place. And when grown ups said, "What's his business?" and answered "What's in the shipping business?" and when his ride little playmate old uncle learned some slang, remarked "None of your business!" because he kept on asking the same question over and over, and when the cook interrupted in barking his repeated request for "some more stock word that would fit in anywhere. And so when the little next next next was taken very sick, and he knew all about it and somebody asked him what was the matter, do you wonder that he replied in an important tone, "Why, she has heart business?"

CHILDREN NOT WANTED IN WILMINGTON FLATS

City May Put Extra Tax Levy on Landlords Who Bar Tenants With Families of Little Folks

By a Staff Correspondent

Wilmington, Del., July 28.—Wilmington, somewhat like the old woman who lived in a shoe, is up in the air over the child housing proposition.

Not that Wilmington has so many children she doesn't know what to do. The landlords of the apartment houses are the only ones who are complaining.

An alarming number of apartment houses in the city are excluding tenants who have children. The acuteness of this situation is shown by the fact that some of the advertisements in the papers carry the slogan "Children no objection," as though the opposite condition were the normal one.

"The decree has gone forth that childhood must be suppressed," declared the Rev. George W. Bounds, pastor of the Kingswood M. E. Church, of Wilmington, and glovering real estate men are showing people out of their offices with negative nods because the callers want shelter over their heads and a chance to bring their children up to be Americans.

"We are committing race suicide as rapidly as we can, and we haven't sense enough to realize it," said Mr. Bounds. "We break our necks to run down minor offenders against the law and then we break our necks again in the effort to keep big offenders out of its clutches."

"We throw all the safeguards possible around our material prosperity, our shipyards and railroads, but we neglect our greatest asset—the boys and girls of the city."

FALLS OF SCHUYLKILL

The community is invited to a special feature program today at the Breck school playgrounds. In the morning the tiny children will have drills and games. At 1:30 o'clock there will be a "non-party," followed by a minstrel show. Mother Goose entertainment and a costume parade, in which each entrant must have made his own kite, will follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Binko, who were spending some time at Parkersford, have returned to their home on Queen lane.

WISSAHICKON

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hickson are passing the season at their summer home in Wildwood.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Griffith upon their return from their wedding tour, will be at home at 136 Sumac street. The bride was Miss Lillian Connor.
